FOR WHICH THE GOVERNMENT APPEARS TO HAVE PAID DEARLY.

Investigating the Charges Against Supervising Architect 'Hill-The Government Swindled Out of $35,000 in Two Fronts of a Public Buildsing in Philadelphia-Other Points.

WASHINGTON, June 11.-The committee appointed by Secretary Folger to investigate charges against surpervising Architect Hill, held another session to-day. Mr. Coleman Hill, held another session to-day. Mr. Coleman read the charges and specifications, which set forth fraud and extravagance in connection with the purchase and dressing of stone for public buildings of the United States. The attorney general was present in the court. Mr. Kerr argued only four of the prayers submitted by the government for stone was $17,500, the opposite part being identical with it. The total for the two would be $35,000. The witness said he had not computed the other fronts, but would continue his calculations for each front, and for each floor, so as to give the agregate excess for the entire building. At this point, Homer Campbell, stone cutter, was sworn. The witness had worked at his trade upon the public buildings at New York, Boston and witness had worked at his trade upon the public buildings at New York, Boston and Philadelphia. He was employed upon the public building at Philadelphia during the month of August, 1880, and from memoranda which he made at that time, stated that he cut 19 feet six inches of stone in thirty days, and was paid at the rate of $3.25 per day. He was employed ten days upon one stone, which measured 6 feet 3 by 3 feet ten inches. Mr. Stinemetz was then recalled and textified that for the stone described

Washington June 11.—Mr. Merrick having concluded his nine days' argument to the jury in the star route case, and the court having adjourned until this morning, arguments by the prosecution and defense will be heard upon the prosecution to heard upon the prayers for instructions to the jury. In his arguments Mr. Merrick has probably outlined the prayers of the prosecu-tion, and if they are approved by the court it is likely that the final charge to the jury will be strongly against the defendants. Undoubt-edly the prayers in behalf of the defense will edly the prayers in behalf of the defense will be skillfully framed, and will strike at the vitality of the indictment. Not much hope is entertained on that side of the favorable reception of the prayers, many of which are formulated for the purpose of securing exceptions for use in case of an appeal, should the court reject them. The defense will probably maintain that the statute of exceptions for use in case of an appeal, should the court reject them. The defense will probably maintain that the statute of limitation has run against this case, but already Judge Wiley has practically decided that point, so far as his court is concerned, the expedition—the relief of his comrades, whose lives may depend upon his efforts. ready Judge Wiley has practically decided that point, so far as his court is concerned. Counsel have promised to limit their arguments to to-day, but this trial has not been remarkable, for should they adhere to this agreement, however, Judge Wiley will charge the jury on Tuesday, (one day only was thus occupied in the first trial), and it may retire to consider the verdict on that day.

to consider the verdict on that day.

REACHING A VERDICT.

The indications are that the jury will be out a considerable time, and Judge Wiley seems disposed to use all his power to secure a verdict of some kind, or in other words to prevent a disagreement. A curious feature of this case is the position occupied by Rerdell. He has confessed himself guilty, yet should the jury acquit the other defendants, it would have the effect of setting aside his plea of guilty (of conspiracy), and thus, in a negative way, declare him to be innocent of the charge of which he has admitted himself guilty.

Although the star route trial has not yet ended, the record up to this point is the largest ever made in a criminal trial in this country. Printed in small type and octave form, it makes over six thousand pages, or about four and one quarter millions of words.

To-day's session of the star route trial was devoted to the hearing of arguments based upon the prayers for instructions to the jury. The prayers number twenty for the prosecu-tion and about a hundred for the defense.

An Agreement of compromise.

Before announcing his intention to resign he held a conference with the members of his party (national liberals) in regard to the divergency of views among them on the government's new church bill. doing so. Before announcing his intention to resign he held a conference with the members of his party (national liberals) in regard to the divergency of views among them on the government's new church bill. His action has caused a great sensation. He has also resigned his seat in the reichstag.

The Hanover Courier attributes the resignation of Herr Von Bennigsen to the confusion which now prevails in political affairs, especially to the differences existing between himself and a majority of his party in regard to the church bills.

The different factions in the landtag have agreed upon a special committee to consider the new church bill, and suggest amendments to it. The government journal maintains that the bill is not a concession to the Roman curia, but is framed in the interest of the monarchy itself, as Catholics are fully justified in complaining of the present state of affairs. It is hoped by the government that the conservatives and the liberals will write against the ultramontanes, who demand more than the government are willing to graat. The first reading of the bill will take place to-day, when the landtag will be prologued for a week. Last Saturday's sitting of the reich.

IRISH POTATO CROP.

What Can Be Done by Planting Irish Potatoes .- Ar Amazing Vield,—Truck Farming Will Pay.
From the Dublin Gazette.

Several days ago we visited Cochran, during a very short stay, our attention was called to Mr. J. M. Lamb's potato patch, lying broadside with the railroad and within the incorporate limits of Cochran. When we were told that this gentleman had planted fifteen acres in Irish potatoes, our curiosity was a little aroused, and we began at once a search for Mr. Lamb that we might find out his mode of cultivation, and other facts of his his mode of cultivation, and other facts of his crop, in order that we might give them to the readers of the Gazette. We were disappointed in finding Mr. Lamb, but obtained from Mr. M. V. Brantly, of Cochran, who is also expermenting, yet on a small scale—one and a half acres. We thought this was the "biggest" patch of Irish potatoes we had ever seen.

Mr. Brantly said: "I planted my potatoes about the usual time in February. I manured them well with stable manure and never made a crop with less work."

"What will be the cost?" we asked.

"The cost," he stated, "will not be more than twenty dollars. I have now about finshed working them and the next work be the digging."
"How much will you make on the acre and

"How much will you make on the acre and a half, Mr. Brantly, and what do yon expect to realize?" we next questioned.
"I think, sir, I will get from the acre and a half, at least forty barrels, and here is the price list," handing the Cincinnati quotations which quoted the "Peerless" per barrel at $5. Mr. Brantly thinks that he is quite certain of getting that price for them. Thus we see that from one and a half acres of land, at a cost of twenty dollars for cultivation, we have that from one and a half acres of land, at a cost of twenty dollars for cultivation, we have a yield of $200, or about one hundred and thirty-five dollars per acre. Deducting the cost of making and marketing, he wilt realize a net profit of at least, one hundred and twenty dollars per acre.

Mr. Lamb has about fifteen acres, and we are told his cost and yield will be about the same as Mr. Brantly's in proportion to the amount planted. Having more in cultivation, Mr. Lamb may have been able to cultivate cheaper or the marketing cost less, as we are informed that he has already refused an offer of $2,000 for his field before gathering. In connection with the potatoes, Mr. ing. In connection with the potatoes, Mr. Lamb has also fifteen acres planted in water melons, and from these acres he expects to realize as much or more, as from his pota-

This proves, conclusively, that the sooner our farmers adopt this plan they will be very much better off. They might see it, with a single glance, and quit planting so much cot-

There is an old blind negro at the poor house, who owns a crippled guinea fowl. The other night the cook heard a rabbit squeal near the hen roost, and upon going there, found her dog was there first, and had rescued the rabbit from a large owl. Her theory is, that the owl was after the blind negro's crippled guinea, and the rabbit happened to pass that way, which caused a change of programme. At any rate, the blind negro claimed a portion of the rabbit by virtue of his owning the crippled guinea that constituted the attraction, that brought the owl, that caught the rabbit, that was rescued by the dog, that was owned by the cook; and so they "pooled their issues" and made a feast, and "pooled their issues" and made a feast, and there was peace in the poor house.

Conyers Weekly: White there is not much demonstration as yet, there is no doubt about real estate in Conyers being on the advance. Several private sales have been effected here of late wherein property brought nice figures. There is no reason why our real estate should not be on the rise. Occupying one of the highest points in middle Georgia, having good water, fine air, splendid churches and excellent common schools; surrounded by rich and fertile lands, and a trade that has reached this year, notwithstanding the remarkably small amount of provisions sold, between 50 and 100,000 dollars more than last season. It comes from the increase of the trade drawn here and not by the extravagance of our people. We are willing to risk our entire reputation as judges that in no place in Georgia have the merchants made so large a per cent on the amount of chants made so large a per cent on the amount of capital invested. Convers has none of the high and ancy prices of other small towns, neither in good

He threw an ax at her twice, and then violently beat her, afterwards forcing her to work in the garden during the greater portion of the heavy rain that fely on last Saturday. He is in jail.

Hawkinsville News: John Young has about exterminated his four hundred rats with the loss of the lives of but a few cats.
Sheep shearing in this county is a time looked to with considerable interest by the many sheep owners. The neighbors for a radius of several miles appoint a day to meet at one of their houses and have a regular day's work clipping wool. It was our pleasure to be at one of their houses and have a regular day's work clipping wool. It was our pleasure to be at one of these shearings at Uncle Wiley Whitley's. About twenty of the neighbors met, and were soon sacking the fleecy article. The business was rather a novel one to us, and we were much surprised at the precision with which the work was carried on. There was no mixing of wool nor marking the wrong lamb. Among those present were Loldy Paulk, James Paulk, Sr., Nas Henderson, Billy Fletcher, Bud ahd John Whitley, Jake and Rev. William Paulk, John Young and Dan McInnis. The most proficient in the shearing business was Billy Fletcher. He is conceded to be the walked a distance of three miles, helped drive two lots of sheep from a pasture and sheared 135 head by sun down. Billy says he can clip the wool from 150 head in a day, by starting early. The sheep were poor and did not yield much wool. Becoming somewhat desirous of changing for the time being the duli monotony of our life-last Sunday we paid a visit to Judge Wiley Whitley's, where we met a hospitable greeting: and where we had the pleasure of meeting our genial friends of the long ago, Nas and Bill Henderson. On our arrival the two were discussing the gubernatorial question. Nas had favored the nomination of Bacon, and Bill was "dyed in the wool" for Tete Smith. The argument was lengthy and animating, but Nas out talked Bill. Dinner being announced, we were invited to a bountiful repast. After dinner we repaired to the parlor, where we listened to several beautiful pieces of music on the organ by Misses Sulistine and Ali to build the large and commodious academy, of which mention was made in a previous issue of the Dispatch, near the residence of Judge Whitley. The house is to be neatly built, and supplied with ample seats and desks for fifty or sixty pupils. The house when finished, will stand as a monument to the energy and pride of the citizens of this com-munity.

Biliousness and Bilious Patients. Pertaining to B le, Bilious Symptoms, Billous Temperaments. THE REMEDY.

The Bilious, is a disorder of the human system. A technical definition of the term s this: "Pertaining to the bile; disordered in respect to the bile; as, a bilious patient; dependant on an excess of bile; as, bilious temperament; bilious symptoms."

The word bile, when employed in the sense in which it is understood in this article, signifies, according to the Dictionaries, "a yellow, greenish, bitter, viscid, nauseous fluid secreted by the liver." "Any derangement of the bile at once manifests itself in great bodily discomfort, in loss of appetite, and in despondency," recently remarked an author of a valuable treatise upon this subject.

The same writer further adds: "Some of the following symptoms are usually prominent: Pain in the right side, which is very ensitive to pressure. The pain will some times appear to be located under the shoulder blade. There is also irregular appetite, flatulence, a sense of fullness in the region of the stomach, and, sooner or later, the skin and whites of the eyes become yellow, the stools clay-colored and the urine yellow, depositing a copious sediment." The balance of the too familiar train of ills needs no further mention here. The bilious is, as will be seen, is an affliction of great magnitude, and of varied forms of direct and indirect appearance. The disease is no respecter of persons or localities. Its deadly and implacable enemy is found in

KIDNEY-WORT. It acts on the liver and kidneys at the same time, and by its mild but efficient cathartic effects moves the bowels freely. The morbid poisons that have been the cause of all this disease and suffering will be thrown off; new life will be infused into every organ, and nature, thus aided, will soon restore the patient to health. Physicians of repute and standing, men who are honored for their probity, and respected and trusted for their scientific attainments, are using Kidney-Wort in their practice regularly. No stronger widence of the worth of the remedy would seem to be necessary. Such endorsements are few and far between. We had almost said that they were without precedent in the history of a proprietary remedy. Be that as it may, kowever, the fact remains established that Kidney-Wort is a matchless remedy, and one that needs only to be tested to demonstrate its rare merit as a healer of most of the common maladies of

lives in Monkton, Vt. Under date of April 20th, 1882, the doctor wrote to the proprietors of Kidney-Wort, and said, among other things; "Nearly a year ago I wrote you about the success I had had in the use of Kidney-Wort in my practice. The past year I have used it more than ever, and with the best results. It cured Mr. Ethan Lawrence, of this town, of a terrible case of bloated kidney disorder. I have also treated many other discusses successfully with it. Constipation, in all its forms, yields to it, and in rheumatic affections I have known it to give almost immediate relief. In female disorders it is equally successful. Take it all in all it is the most wonderful medicine I have ever used." Dr. Ballou does not stand alone in his experience with this remedy. R. K. Clark, M. It, of South Hero, Vt., says: "Kidney-Wort does all that is claimed for it." Whilst Dr. C. M. Summerlin, of Sun Hill, Washington Co., Georgia, says, in a nut-shell: "Kidney-Wort cured my wife when my own and other physicians' prescriptions only palliated her troubles." DR. PHILLIP C. BALLOU,

VALENTINE'S STUDIO.

A VIOIT TO A PALACE OF SSUTHERN ART TREASURES.

A Day in Richmond, the Old Confederate Capital Valentine the Southern Sculptor-The Head-quarters of the Genius-Looking at the Wonderful Creations of His Brain.

Special to The Constitution.

RICHMOND, Va., June 10 .- The appearance of the building, the drapery of the vines, the entrance with a guardian statue, form an ap propriate transition, from an every day world to a true temple of art.

You are prepared, in some measure, for the overpowering effect on every stranger, of the prominent object of interest, the recumbent sta. tue of General R.E. Lee. In a'sense of awe from this unrivaled work, you must, on a first visit to the statue, fail to appreciate the many ther gems of sculpture. You stand in the presence of Lee, for with the advantage of a cast from life, it is said to be a perfect representation of the justly renowned hero, in features, pose of figure, and general proportions. It was the artist's intention to present the idea of slumber, but no one could doubt, in seeing this last model for the completed work, that, inspired in the progress of his design, he has gained the greatest triumph of art, in a sublime portrayal of a Christian death. A distinguished writer has said, the control of death. A distinguished writer has said,
"The hero is lying in his uniform as if in sleep. The whole expression is that of tranquil and absolute repose; the repose of physical power, unshaken though dormant, of manly grace, most graceful when at rest—of noble faculties, alive and sovereign, though still." Another warm admirer has said of this statue:
"The work has nothing of the cold, disconsolate look of death; the artist has animated it with the warm breath of peace." While it with the warm breath of peace." While thanking these distinguished distant critics for their generous and graceful praise, it is suggested that they had only seen photographs of the statue, which merely do justice, or partial justice, to the physical outlines, but fail entirely to show how the countenance but fail entirely to show how the countenance seems glorified by the passing away of a great soul, reaching out to its God. Such death not to appear "cold and disconsolate," while ordinary sleep would be disturbed, in any suitable ideal, by haunting, care and anxiety, from the mighry unfinished responsibilities of General Lee's later career. We see the impress of suffering nobly codured but a recover and purity reer. We see the impress of suffering nobly endured, but a repose, power and purity, surely only from the final conquest, and "the peace which passeth ail understanding." This description may seem to convey undue reverence for any work of art, however beautiful, but such is the irresistible effect, and it would be well if this statue could be draped apart from other objects of interest and left as the last, lingering sanctity of the place. Near Lee we find a striking bust of Commodore Maury, in serenity, truth and power, as in real life. In wonder at the artist's exaltation of sentiment in the conception of characters of such self-abnegation and purity, we naturally turn with inquiry from the creations to the crea-tor. We find in the life of Edward V. Valentor. We find in the life of Edward V. Valentine, a true parallel for any heroism. Engaged during the war of the southern states in completing his art studies in Europe, he availed himself of the earliest opportunity to return to his native state. This artist's ambition was as dear to him as any of warrior or statesman, but although, like Lee and Maury, he received advantageous offers, with assurance of fame and wealth from foreign sources, he preferred to give Virginia any tribute or aid from his genius and patriotism, and affording ample evidence of zeal, we see how he traced with loving hand her historic greatness. Our confederate generals we see how he traced with loving hand her historic greatness. Our confederate generals stand in life like portraiture on every side. Impelled by the particular success of his ideal works—"Knowledge is Power," "The People's Ward," etc.—the two mentioned so well known in America, Mr. Valentine has been or some time engaged with a group, which being wholly his design, perhaps shows his genius more than any previous undertaking; it will more appeal to the cultivated classic taste of the world, and will have a greater effect on his reputation. This represents effect on his reputation. This represents Andromache and Astyanax, and after the parting from Hector, so celebrated in Homer. In strictly Homeric meaning, we might exan strictly Homeric meaning, we might expect more the beauty of combination than of antithesis; we look in the countenance of Andromache for the hope and joy from the sympathy of the loving child, blending with the grief of the wife, and we wonder to see that grief untouched by the strength of maternal love. The occupation of Hector's wife is, in Homer, made simply a matter of dois, in Homer, made simply a matter of domestic usage.

"Andromache! my soul's far better part,
Why, with untimely sorrows, heaves thy heart?
No more, but hasten to thy tasks at home:
There guide the spindle and direct the loom."
Valentine then rises to the higher significance of mythological story and assumes the controlling superstition of "The Thread of Life." A superstition to have force, must be made paramount, and while the mother assures the caressing child, with one protecting arm, her whole thoughts are given to the idle distaff at her side. Her countenance, full of apprehension and sadness, is thoroughly Greek; the noble dignity of the princess contrasts with the playful child, and his energy and suple grace, are in physical contrast with the relaxed trame of the griefstricken mother, presenting to all who contrast with the relaxed frame of the grief-stricken mother, presenting to all who understand the conception, the force of Mr. James Baron Hope's beauti-ful tribute to Mr. Valentine, in which, speak-ing of nis power of antithesis, he terms our artist "a Shakespeare in marble."

Ever stirred by patriotic demand, Mr. Val-entine has readily suspended the beautiful creations of his ideal world, to perpetuate the fame of one of Kentucky's noblest sons. Selected to design and execute a statue of General John C. Breckenridge, he has devoted himself for several months, to the successful himself for several months, to the successful progress of this work, with characteristic energy—the model he has secured—presents, as all his work does, the surpassing simplicity of his style and methods, as the greatest beauty of his sculpture.

When vast crowds assemble to witness the unveiling of General Lee's recumbent statue at Lexington, Virginia, appointed for the 25th of June, let all remember, and do honor to the thought, that like General Robert Lee, "Edward Virginius Valentine" has given to Virginia all that God gave to him, and let state after state—north and south—emulate the example of Kentucky injwords of double patriotism, giving tribute and aid to living genius, as well as honor to departed heroes.

Gentlemen: - After the examination of many samples of Baking Powders, which I purchased in the open market, I find DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER to be a superior article, free from any adulturant or deleterious chemical, such as Terra Alba, Alum, etc. I find it to be composed of articles of a superior quality, combined in such proportions as to render the greatest volume of Carbonic Acid Gas, which shows it to be a perfect powder, based on scientific formulæ. I find it to contain no Ammonia compounds, which are products of animal and vegetable decomposition, and which I would consider unhealthful, inasmuch as it is absorbed by the dough to a certain extent in the baking process. In fact, by my examination and experiments I am led to believe "Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder" to be a superior article, and one for efficiency and healthfulness, I would not Respectfully, C. B. GIBSON, hesitate to recommend.

PEOPLE who prefer lard to cotton seed oil should be deeply interested in the developments in Chicago, where it is shown that hoofs and offal are chemically prepared and shipped south as a first-class quality of hog lard. Nature has in store many better compounds for the kitchen than those found with a Chicago brand.

JOHN HENUSE, missing ever since the war, returned home in Reading, Pennsylvania the other day, and though he established his identity to the family, there was no osculation for him. Weary of his cold reception, he says he will leave the city as quietly as he did not take to him.

A REMARKABLE MAN.

We alluded recently to a number of re markable circumstances connected with the life and death of Rev. Mr. Battle, of Monroe county. A few months ago there died in Colquitt county in this state a citizen whose history is equally as remarkable. Rev. Henry Crawford Tucker was born in Laurens stand the usual kicking, and continue to support county in 1805. In 1828 he moved to the section now known as Colquitt county. He commanded a company in the Creek war. After that war he joined the Primitive Baptist church, and for forty-seven years was minister of that denomination, and he preached his last sermon in that county in which he was ordained. During the forty-teven years he never received a dollar for his services as a preacher. He expounded the gospel and nominate this man for president. performed all the duties of his high office without money and without price. Mr. Tucker was married three times, and was the father of thirty-one children, twenty-four of whom are still living. His decendants number one hundred and sixty, and one of his sons, Mr. John Tucker, represents Colquitt county in the legislature.

A FUDDLED NEWSPAPER

The Chicago Times devotes one of its head less editorials to discussing the report of an interview between Judge O. A. Lochrane and some newspaper man, in which the genial Judge is quoted as declaring that the south has never been in favor of the free trade theory. The Times laboriously-the is hardly expressive enoughgoes on to argue that the southern people are not in favor of the free trade theory, they must necessarily be in favor of the sort of protection advocated by the republican pimps and tools of the monopolists. Wading through its argument like a crippled elephant, stumbling here, falling down there and wallowing yonder, the Times proceeds to show that the south, being in favor of Pennsylvania protection, is nevertheless willing to vote for Tilden. Carlisle Dorsheimer, and Hendricks, who are all free

This is first-rate logic for the Chicago Times, but the object of such a display is rather obscure, not to say puzzling, in view of the fact that the south is not in favor of "protection" and that the democrats alluded to are not one of them free-traders. It is nat ural that the Times being in a state of perpetual fuddlement, so far as its editorial opinions are concerned, should fimagine the rest of creation to be in a state of fuddlement, but, as a part of the rest of creation, THE Constitution advises the aged proprietor of the Times to place his editorial page in charge of an educated American newsboy.

ABOUT BOOMS AND BOOMERS For months and months past the drum majors of the republican party have been busily engaged in arranging plans and programmes for the democrats. The interest of these drum majors in the democratic party and its candidates is not without its pathetic feature, for the probablity is that they will endeavor to take charge of matters and then they will meet disappointment in the middle of the road. They have already nominated several democratic candidates for president, and we gather from the New York Tribune that Mr. Randall is already elected speaker of the next house.

This activity on the part of the republican drum majors has not been without its effect. Together with the recent out. givings of Mr. Hendricks, it has been the means of stirring up the demoeratic prophets who are now running hither

COLORED J. B. RILLERRW, Of NESHVINE, has been visiting the Mexican mines of Polk, the defaulting state treasurer of Tennessee, and reports that they are "good for $150.000 a year, I gratic prophets who are now running hither g. President Arthur will doubtless leave the

and you holding to the coat-tails of rumor and probability. More than this, these prophets have become partisans of particular men and policies, and in the midst of it all there is room for a great access of confusion and the renewal of a good deal of monumental confusion. Now, all this running, and prophesying, and partisanship means something or it means less than nothing. If it means anything, it means that the democratic party is as desperately in need of a leader now as it has been any time these twenty years, except during the brief period that Mr. Tilden took charge. The slightest symptom of leadership in 1880, would have enabled the democratic party to turn the "protection" feature of the campaign into an overwhelming victory.

It is to be observed that, although the re onblican convention is to be held before that of the democrats, we hear little republican touting or prophesying. The faction fight which has been going on with more or less vehemence is gradually subsiding, and we shall shortly hear no more of it. The hand of a leader is upon the republican machine, and the machine knows how profitable it is to obey. The quarreling and rioting that is a marked feature of the republican party in offyears, is simply a necessary relaxation of discipline. When the drum taps the party is ready for business.

The lack of discipline in the democratic party is not so much the result of defeat as it is of a peculiar morbid enthusiasm in behalf of particular men which breaks out the year before the convention and runs like a pestilence until it attacks the convention itself. And this enthusiam displays itself and works confusion in spite of the fact that the real object of the democratic party is not to place any particular man or set of men in office, but to put in operation certain principles of government, and to bring about sweeping reforms in the methods of administration which now prevail.

In spite of this fact, which is apparent to very democrat, the season of enthusiasm has set in. There is said to be a tremendous Mc-Donald boom in the west and in the south. Several prophets youch for its existence in the west, and Editor Watterson vouches for it in the south, and, as a guarantee of good faith, he has publicly packed Mr. Tilden away for soap-grease. It may be that this is the best disposition that can be made of Mr. Tilden, but there are numbers of people all over the country who believe otherwise; and there are thousands, we might say millions, of people in the south who know nothing o the McDonald boom.

Indeed, we may say definitely that the Mc-Donald boom in the south exists only in the inflamed minds of the prophets. The people of this section do not prefer McDonald to any other probable or possible candidate. They do not prefer him to Mr. Hewitt, or to Judge entered it. The city is strange to him, the Field, or to Mr. Hendricks, or to any other people are strange, and even his own family | prominent candidate. There is nothing silier than the boom business, and it is to be hoped that the boomers will give the people

POLITICAL NOTES

THE Philadelphia Press insists that no one nall deny Governor Butler the title of Earl of Tawksbury. MAYOR AMES, of Minneapolis, will probably be the democratic candidate for governor of Minnesota this fall. THE mayor of Moscow is going to resign. t is scarcely necessary to remark that the mayor of loscow is not an Ohio man.

THE Boston Herald remarks that Judge Hoadly, the possible democratic candidate for governor of Ohio, is said to be a "pronounced agnos-tic," though he dutifully attends church with his COLONEL J. B. KILLEBREW, of Nashville.

GENERAL ROSECEANS does not like it be cause the San Francisco Chronicle publishes two letters of his, one recommending the bearer to the overnor of California, and the other, sent through he mail, explaining that the recommend was written to get rid of an office seeker.

MICHIGAN has the quietest tidal-wave of he lot. Governor Begole is not a presidential candidate, avoids the circus business, and has only interferred with the legislature by vetoing a nine line bill about a school district, and even in that case he repented, and asked the senate to vote him down.

SENATOR VAN WYCK charges a new route fraud in the recent letting of a route from Fort Niobrara to Rapid City and Deadwood to John R. Miner at $13,000. a year. Van Wyck says the points reached are well served by other routes. Gresham will send a man out to report.

NEW YORK TRIBUNE: When a republican goes over to the democracy he seems to think he de rves an office as a reward for his bravery. One o the three leading democratic candidates for gov rnor in Ohio is a republican renegade, and the ernor in Ohio is a republican renegade, and the Indiana democracy will probably be led next year by another. Ex-Lieutenant Governor Gray was one of the most uncompromising republicans in Indiana during the war, but the party advanced while he stood still, and he naturally allied himself with the democrats. He has several times sought from them the gubernatorial nomination, but has so far failed in getting it. The indications favor his chances next year, however. He has waited twelve years for his reward and is becoming impatient.

MRS. ROBERTS, Mrs. Langtry's duenna, asks an interviewing reporter why American newspaers will print people's private business. Answer Yes; you see, madam, our papers give in prin what is said among you only by the lips in 'society.' We hire men to get at all the facts, good, bad, indifferent, true, false, disgusting, inproper, none-of-your business, or otherwise, put them all in print, and let everybody know them. You in 'society' are just as anxious to get at all this gossip, and lots of your people perform the service voluntarily, without pay and for pure love of the thing. You may hear at English parties and receptions, behind doors and in corners, and by elderly gentlemen and ladies, gossip of the most prurient character, and they never let up on it, either. If among you a young girl of 17 at a garden party goes behind a tree trunk two inches in diameter and there talks to a gentleman alone for twenty five minutes you can get more scandal and indirect defamation out of it than if one of our young girls was out riding with a man till two o'clock in the morning. TH DRN AND HENDRICKS

The True History of the Saratoga Conference-Mr. From the Indianapolis Times.

The Journal yesterday copied from the Baltimore

Sun an article relative to the Saratoga conference between Mr. Tilden and Mr. Hendricks, after their omination in 1876, which purported to be an in side history of that event, and to reveal new facts in regard to the political relations between Messrs. Tilden and Hendricks. The article claimed to be 'now for the first time printed," and to state "facts obtained from the most undoubted sources." The purport of the article was that Mr. Hendricks was was, in fact, snubbed, and that he left there feeling very bitterly toward Mr. Tilden. A representative of the Times called on Mr. Hendricks yesterday to inquire if the article was true, and to optain a con rect statement in regard to the Saratoga conference. Mr. Hendricks was found in his law office engaged in preparing some papers, a picture of health, and oncerned and genial as if he never had a care in his life. After some conversation on other topics Mr. Hendricks was asked if he had seen the article of the Baltimore Sun, above referred to. He said he had not. The following passage, which is the

he had not. The following passage, which is the gist of the article, was then read to him:

"Some time af, er the adjournment of the convention Mr. Hendricks went to Saratoga, for the purpose, as he understood, of conferring and consulting with Mr. Tilden as to their letters of acceptance and plans for conducting the campaign. Here the apple of discord was sown which afterward ripened so fruitfully. According to the friends of Mr. Hendricks, Mr. Tilden did not consult with him, almost ignored his presence, and the interviews, which took place between them were formal and meaningless. Mr. Hendricks left Saratoga in disgust, From that time until the election in November Mr. Tilden evinced no desire for any intercourse with his associate on the ticket, and Mr. Hendricks, smarting under what he considered the neglect at Saratoga, made no overtures to Mr. Tilden."

"Is teat true?" asked the reporter. Mr. Hendricks smiled, and replied with deliberate emphasis: "There is not a word of truth in it, nor a particle of foundation for the statement." Then, with the manner of one who wished to be accurate about an event which happened several years ago, he continued:

"You may remember there was some delay in the publication of the letter of acceptance, both of Mr. Tilden and myself. Shortly after the convention I went to Saratoga for the purpose of meeting Mr. Tilden, and conferring with him in regard to our letters of acceptance and the political situation generally. He was stopping at the United States notel, and the interview between us took place in his room. When I met him he informed me that he had already written me a note requesting or suggesting a conference. The note passed me on my way to Saratoga, and I found it on my return. At that time neither Mr. Tilden nor myself had written our letters of acceptance, and for purely personal reasons, relating to his private business, he was not ready to write his letter. He so stated and explained his reasons. I think we had two interviews during this visit to Saratoga, and they were entirely pleasant and satisfactory to me. On the cars, on my way home, I wrote my letter of acceptance. In about ten days, or perhaps two weeks. I returned to Saratoga, and met Mr. Tilden again. I gave him my letter of acceptance to read, and he gave me his. I think I made one or two slight changes in my letter, but they were not material. The object of the conference was not to subordinate the views of either to the other, but simply to write with a common understanding. My interviews with Mr. Tilden during this visit, as in the former one. were perfectly pleasant, and the object of the conference was accomplished to my entire satisfaction. I remember our last interview was in the afternoon, and the changes in my letter were so slight that gave it out for pu blication immediately, and it was set up and printed in Saratoga that day. I do not remember whether Mr. Tilden's letter was published at the same time or not, but I have a distinct recollection of his giving it to me in manuscriat to You may remember there was some delay in the remember whether Mr. Tilden's letter was published at the same time or not, but I have a distinct recollection of his giving it to me in manuscript to

NOT FOR COMPROMISE.

Mrs. Gaines Abates Nothing of Her Claim-What She

From the New Orleans Times-Democrat. Mrs. Myra Clark Gaines' letter to the council last Tuesday, in which she called on the city to settle with her, has been very generally misunderstood and misunterpreted, being styled "a compromise."

A closer inspection of Mrs. Gaines' letter, which is very characteristic and wily, will show that no compromise whatever is offered, and that she states compromise whatever is offered, and that she states nothing of her claim, but offers to save the city the expense of an appeal, and agrees, if the council will pay her claim in full, that she will not put it to the expense of an appeal, to the additional cost of court and to twenty per ceut damages for taking a groundless appeal. These extra charges and costs which she declares New Orleans will have to pay if it contests her claims, she figures out to be $1,217.000 in her letters to the council; hence the original of the common belief that Mrs. Gaines has agreed to acept $1,300,000. a saving of $600.000 to the city. She has never made any offer of this kind, nor anything resembling it, nor is she likely to make it. A member of the council who had been led to believe that she was willing to make some compromise, asked her a few days ago what she would accept $1,934,667.83 and no less, exactly the amount that Judge Billings awarded her. She has been fighting in the courts for over fifty years, and she is scarcely likely to surrender any of her cla at this day. The so called Gaines comprom therefore, is a mere creature of the imaginati something that never existed. It is out of question. Mrs. Gaines has offered no comprom and even if she had agreed to take $1,300,000, as been popularly supposed, the city could not g that amount.

at amount. It is best, by all means, to take this question up to he supreme court again. Several of the present adges of that court have expressed a willingness and a desire to reopen this case. It is to be remem-ered, moreover, that this august tribunal has albered, moreover, that this august tribunal has ai-ready twice reversed its decisions on this matter, and that Mrs. Gaines won her legal victories there by an accident and by a slim majority of one. If brought up again before it the supreme court may hearken to the dissenting opinions of Chief Justice Taney and Justices Catron and Greer, and refuse to allow, as these judges expressed it, "senile scandal and gossip" to burden New Orleans with an im-mense and preposterons claim like this of nearly $2,000,000.

The Colonels in Georgis

From the Savannah Times. The "colonels" in politics must go. The privates will come forward and man the guns in the next campaign.—New Orleans Picayune. You are mistaken. The colonels are here to stay and they will run the next campaign and all suc ceeding campains, by a large majority. The colonel is the equal in every respect of the American eagle and the two together form the bulwark of eagle and the two together form the bulwars of American liberty. If the time should ever come when the colonel must go, the eagle will refuse to soar, his tail feathers will droop, and down will tumble epluribus union.—Memphis Avalanche.

It would be a fearful task to attempt the externionation of "colones," in politics, and we rather that the colones of the colones, and we have the colones of the colones of the colones, and we have the colones of the mination of "colonels" in politics, and we rather agree with our Memphis contemporary. In Georgia at least the "colonels" are prepared to stay, and we don't know how we would get along without them.

When he found out that it was Jim Snivers who did it, he whipped Jim, and told him that, except me, he was the worst boy in the school; but he didn't deserve it, for it wasn't Jim that fixed the chair. It was known that the colonel intended to go on the excursion to the northwest, and considerable interest was shown ever the matter. During the day Mr. Littleton learned that Colonel Thornton was arranging to leave on the excursion. He hastily instituted legal proceedings against him, and had his baggage attached in the Union passenger depot. take no action at present relative to the extension of the road. TRAINS No. 52 and 53 began their trips between Atlanta and Chariotte Sunday. They are welcomed by the public generally and complete a double daily mail and passenger route between New Orleans and Mew York. The trains leave At-lants at 4:20 a. m. and arrive at 12:50 a. m.

FROM the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette: The Cincinnati Southern, the Ohio and Mississippi and the Baltimore and Ohio have come to the wise and the Battimore and Onto have come to the wise conclusion to enter the Grand Central depot, corner of Central avenue and Pearl. The company's intention is to have the whole line from Shoe Heel to Greensboro', 131 miles, completed this year. From Fayetteville to Gulf, forty-six miles, it has been in operation several years.

The Rates on Meats.

CHICAGO, June 11.—Owing to the light traffic be tween Chicago and the Ohio river points, the pool on that business became dismembered, and rates or meats were reduced from fourteen to five per cent. The cut then extended to carloads of other classes of freight. A meeting of the roads interested was held here to-day and a temporary rate on meats was fixed at seven cents, pending another meeting to be held in Cincinnati in a few days.

The Southern Telegraph.

COLUMBIA, June 6.—A. J. Baldwin, of New York, general superintendent, and A. R. Tucker, of Richmond, foreman of construction, of the Southern telegraph company, arrived in Columbia to-day Tais company is a new one, designed to connect the north and east with all the principal towns of the south. I am given the following information of its progress: Its lines have reached a point twenty miles south of Danville, Va., and it has offices opened up to that point. It is intended to run the lines through North Carolina and to open one from Charlotte to Columbia within three months. From this city a line is to be run to Charleston within four months, in time for the cotton business next fall. From Columbia the line will run to Augusta, and thence to Savannah. Contracts for the poles for the Columbia and Augusta line have been givernout, and the cross arms, etc., are now here. It is not certain whether the construction of this division will be begun here or at Augusta. The construction will be of the best materials, and if the new company doesn't sell out to the Western Union it will have a fine business in South Carolina. This company is a new one, designed to connect officials of the road and the citizens of this end of the line would be glad to see it done. They know the value of the increase of trade which would accrue from such an extension. That the people of Meriwether recognize that Columbus is the natural outlet for them, has been shown conclusively in several very able articles published in the Meriwether Vindicator. In the last issue of that paper it makes the following statement with reference to the situation:

"Although we have 'no additional railroad in formation this week we are none the less confident that there will be an extension of the Columbus and Rome road to Greenville at an early day. 'Tis folly to suppose that the road will stop at Chipley when an extension to Greenville will so greatly promote the interests of the road and of Columbus. We notice that Savannah is complaining of a falling off of receipts in cotton at that port. An extension of the Columbus road to Greenvil le would carry 10,000 additional bales of cotton to Columbus—the greater part of which, we suppose, would go direct to Savannah and the Central railroad to foster the building of this proposed extension. Is is well known that an extension to LaGarngs will take cotton and trade from Columbus and Savannah which they now enjoy. The Newman Heraid clamors week by week for a connection with us by rail. Our neighbors north of us know full well the value of our trade and are greatly concerned at the prospect of having nearly the whole of it transferred to Columbus. If Columbus Monthly the whole of the transferred to Columbus on the rate of section from which they are at present almost entirely ent off, they will aid in getting a railroad into the heart of Meriwether with a Columbus connection. Heretofore our people have been rather averse to a southern railroad connection, but an investigation of the situation and prospect has brought a great change in public feeling and sentiment. With no desire to hasten action of deceive anyone, we state advisedly that now is the time for Columbus and Sa

Rev. J. R. Battle cultivated this year 120 acres of corn with one hand. But then he had no stumps. When will farmers learn that it will pay to remove their stumps? From the Elijay Courier.

Gilmer county's watermelon crop will be much larger this year than was that of last year. From the Fort Valley Mirror.

From the Fort Valley Mirror.

Mr. A. J. Hardison has some very fine watermelon vines. They are now filled with young melons. Mr. Hardison thinks he can ship a car load about the 4th of July. His vines are said to be the finest in this section. Mr. T. O. Skellir has during the past week shipped from this place over three hundred and fifty crates of peaches to New York. Other shippers have added enough to make the whole number over five hundred crates. This speaks well for fruit farmers. Mr. Warren Harris, near Fort Valley, has 55 acres in potatoes, we learn from his son that he will get about 20 barrels to the acre. This is about 50 bushels. We all know this year has been a bad one for potatoes, but there is money in them at that yield.

From the Thomasville Times. Savannah is moving in the matter of getting up a mammoth exhibition of fruits and vegetables, in order to show what Georgia cau do in the way of producing these things. The old fair grounds is suggested as a proper place to hold it. Thomas county seconds the motion and will be there with her famous Levonte pears and other fruits.

From the Fort Gaines Tribune. Shipments onions, potatoes and squashes to orthern markets are frequent, and from all reports

NEW YORK, June 11.—Share speculation opened irregular, but the changes in prices from those at Saturday's close are merely fractional, except in Pullman Palace, which opened 1 per cent higher. During the greater part of the hour between 11 and 12 the market, though active, was weak, and prices fell off 1/4 to 3/4 per cent, the Southwestern stocks suffering most severely in the downward turn.

After this the market became strong, and shortly before two o'clock St. Paul, Minneapolis and Mani-toba sold up 2 per cent, Manhattan Beach 1½, and the remainder of the list 1/8 to 1 per cent, the latter for New Jersey Central and Pacific Mall. Later on the failure of Vanderhoof, Morrison & Co., stock brokers, had a depressing influence on the market. ond a decline of 134 per cent was recorded in Ohio and Mississippi, 11/4 in Denver and Rio Grande, and 1/4 to J per cent in the remainder of the list, the lat-ter for Chicago, Burlington and Quincy. The market closed generally firm at a fractional improve ment. The closing prices compared with those of Saturday show a decline of 1/8 to 11/8 per cent, the Gould stocks leading therein. The action of Comptroller Lawrence in re-The action of Comptroller Lawrence in re-fusing to pay the state of Georgia the $35,-000 declared due on the Trezevant claim has left it doubtful what course would be pursu d to secure the state's rights in the premises. The governor also requests that you will cause a copy of said decision to be forwarded to him as soon as practicable. Very respectfully, CLIFFORD ANDERSON.

this decision by finding that a former comptroller had certified that Georgia was due the government about half a million dollars on the land tax. There are but two ways it appears to get around the decision of Comptroller Lawrence and get the money for the state. One is to sue in the court of claims but there comes in the doubt whether or not the state is competent to use the senseal government in such a case. to sue the general government in such a case

Men The Two Trials and Their Result.

The board of police commissioners convened in regular monthly session last night in their chamber at police headquarters. There were present Commissioner Fox, presiding; Commissioners Goldsmith, Hancock, Frizzell and Crane. The monthly report of station house keepers for the month of May was read and ordered filed. It showed that the total number of state cases entered during the month was fifty-eight; that one hundred and thirty-seven meals had been furnished at a cost of $6.85, and that the station house fees collected amounted to $9.20.

amounted to $9.20. amounted to $9.20.

The report of the chief of police of the transactions of his department for the past month was submitted. The paper was a complete resume of the workings of the police force. It gave the number of state cases as fifty-eight and the number of city cases as four bundred, and thirty in. The cases as four hundred and thirty-six. The paper set forth the fact that twenty-nine of the state cases had been prosecuted; that four of these cases had been transferred on war-of these cases had been transferred on warrants to other counties and that twenty-five of them had been dismissed. Of the city cases it asserted that fines had been dismissed. Of the city cases it asserted that 107 had been dismissed. The report set forth the fact that the amount of fines imposed by the recorder during the month was $2,238.00 and of this amount $1,172.75 had been collected; $143.50 had been remitted by the mayor; $22.50 had been lost by escapes, and $899.25 had been and was being worked out on the streets. The report indicated that $1,207.10 was the amount of money paid to the city clerk during the month.

In his usual thorough and complete manner the chief discussed in his report the condition of the city, the stationhouse, the stockade, Ponce de Leon springs and the police. The report was accepted by the board and ordered filed.

LAW FOR FULTON.

WHAT THE COMMISSIONERS OF ROADS AND REVENUES WANT.

cuit of Fultoni County—De Kalb and Clayton to be Annexed to Ceher Circuits—Several Other Important Schemes on Hand.

At the coming session of the legislature ser eral important bills relative to the city of Atlanta and Fulton county will be introduced. It is likely that some of the bills will pass without opposition, but over others there is sure to be a stubborn fight. The Fulton delegation will probably be divided on several of these proposed enactments. Colonel George Adair has submitted to the board of county defects he has found in the claim. The secretary will probably be appealed to first, and it is hoped that ne will ask a review of the decision, and that Comptroller Lawrence may see his way clear to advising the payment of the claim. Of its justice no doubt exists and if it is lost at all it must be by the technicality on which the comptroller is now standing. The case will be carefully and closely watched by the governor and the attorney general and every resource to maintain the claim of the state will be exhausted.

Adair has submitted to the board of courts, commissioners, of which he is a member, a series of suggestions as to what he thinks ought to be done in several matters of local importance. He would materially change the jurisdiction of the superior and city courts. The county of Fulton is entitled, by wealth and population, to be a judicial circuit in and of itself. The counties of Clayton and DeKalb could be appended to adjacent circuit. cuits. Then the superior court should have control of all the civil business. The city court, he thinks, should be a court of criminal jurisdiction, only to try all misdemeanor cases a thief entered the place and stole a half dozen shirts and a new coat and vest.

The appearance of a veritable goat at the rear of the procession of a colored secret society yesterday caused a variety of comment in the multitude of colored spectators.

which he is firmly convinced.

He would further have submitted to the legal voters of the county whether or not they should expend the constitutional amount to macadamize the public roads. The roads leading in all directions from the city limits would, under the favorable decision of the voters receive at once very valuable imthe voters receive at once very valuable improvements. While the commissioner does not claim any right for his board in the direction of work in the city limits, yet he urges upon the street commissioners the propriety of grading Decatur and Pryor streets to the city limits, and Pryor street from the city limits along the water main to the oleomargarine factory. This work was promised to parties who granted the right to lay the main through

Colonel Adair is heartily in favor of all these proposed changes and additional enact-ments. He has studied the bearings of ments. He has studied the bearings of each very carefully and thinks the interests of the county would be subserved by what he proposes. Bills covering several of the points above mentioned have already been prepared and the intention to apply for their passage will soon be advertised. Other bills will doubtless be prepared. One change that will be asked by prepared. One change that will be asked by the commissioners and probably granted without opposition is the establishment of polling places in each of the five wards of the city. There are now but two precincts. At important elections they are precincts. At important elections they are very disagreeably crowded. The recent action of the city council in voting the abolition of the board of street commissioners will carry another question of local importance before the legislature, when the bill comes up to so change the charter as to make the action of the council valid. It seems therefore that Atlanta and Fulton county will present their full shape of business to the general assembly full share of business to the general assembly some of it of such a nature as to cause a lively stirring among the law makers and the exertion of all possible influences, both for and against the proposed changes in existing regulations.

CLOSING EXERCISES.

The anniversary exercises of the Atlanta university, colored, began on Sunday with a baccalaureate sermon by President Delets, D. D., of Talladega college. His text was "Go ye into all the world, etc." He dwelt upon the improbability of the few believers, without wealth, learning or political rower. The Commencement Exercises of the Atlanta Univers without wealth, learning or political power, gathered on an unknown mountain in Galilee going forth to make disciples of of all nations; referring to the geographical, numerical, linguistic and ethnological difficulties so vividly and plainly as to impress the youngest in the audience. The wonderful triumphs of the gospel were then spoken of and in conclusion a lesson of encouragement under all difficulties was drawn under all difficulties was drawn.

Yesterday was the first day of examinations. Classes were examined in Stone hall in gen classes were examined in Stone hall in general history, higher algebra, Latin, prose composition, logic and elementary algebra, and in South hall in geography, grammar, reading and form. Topics were assigned by lats, and visitors were invited to ask questions. All the classes did finely. In history the relation between cause and effect was made avoraginant. In history the mstory the relation between cause and effect was made prominent. In higher algebra the most difficult principles were explained readily and clearly. The class in Latin prose showed great familiarity with the idioms of the language. In methods of teaching the members of the senior normal class developed important principles of instruction, and showed that they had studied the philosophy of teaching.

The state board of examiners assisted in examining the class in logic, and received full and correct answers to their questions. The recitation in elementary algebra was

The recitation in elementary algebra was perfect.

All the examinations in the common English branches showed the good results of the normal methods of teaching that have been employed in this school for several years.

The class in form took objects in their hands and described lines, surfaces and solids with great fluency and discrimination. A leading object in this instruction has been to teach a correct use of the English language, and the comparative absence of blunders in these pupils of low grade, testifies to the success of the plan pursued.

The commencement exercises

The commencement exercises of Clarke university opened Sunday afternoon and will be continued until Wednesday night. The baccalaureate sermon was preached Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. J. B. Middleton, of Greenville, S. C., and was impressive and appropriate. At 7:30 in the evening Rev. John Watts, of Newnan, delivered the annual sermon, both services being largely attended. Yesterday the regular commencement examinations were commenced. At nine o'clock the doors of the different departments were thrown open, and until 2 o'clock in the afternoon the many visitors were highly and pleasantly entertained. The examinations in the different branches were such as to reflect credit to both pupils and teachers. At 8 o'clock last night an address was delivered by Rev. J. B. Middleton. The exercises so far have been very interesting. The following is the programme for to-day: From 9 a. m. to 2 p. m., examinations; 3 p. m., meeting of the trustees; 8 p. m., prize declamation. The public are cordially invited to attend.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

One Hundred and Twenty-Three Names on the List and Two Hundred Wanted. Yesterday three names were added to the list of members of the Atlanta chamber of commerce. When the establishment of a permanent chamber was resolved on by the merchants meeting it was thought that one hundred names would insure the success of the institution. So they, would but the determination to have a home of its own and to establish a chamber of commerce with all the appliances and features seen in such orthe apphances and teatures seen in such or-ganizations in a first-class city will make it necessary to have at least two hundred mem-bers. Without doubt the other seventy-seven can be had in Atlanta. The chamber is not limited to wholesale merchants. It is to be operated on the plan used in Cincinnati and other cities where merchants in every branch of business, wholesale and retail agents, brokers, professional men, in short every in-terest is represented and finds it to its interest terest is represented and finds it to its interest to be so. Already nearly every business in Atlanta has gone into the new chamber of commerce. There are also several professional gentlemen on the list, but there are in these two classes fully a hundred others who are not in the organization and ought to be. A meeting for the purpose of complete organization will be had some time during the present week. At this meeting important reports from the committees on constitution and on location will be submitted. Very soon the new chamber will very soon the new chamber will have the machinery perfected, and will commence operation. By the time the meeting is held it is expected that the list will have grown considerably toward the desired two hundred.

A lew weeks ago Mr. 1. E. Orchard, of Columbia, South Carolina, challenged Prof. A. F. Wurm, of this city, to contest a match at chess to decide which is the better player. The challenge was accepted promptly, and the match began yesterday morning in the reading room of the library. At exactly 10 o'clock the combatants faced each other over the checkered heart. the checkered board. Mr. Orchard won the move and opened with the "Vienna game," or "Queen's Knight's Opening," a favorite debut of Stenitz, McKenzie and others. Prof. Wurm replied with the acknowledged best defense and the game went along smoothly until the sixth move, when the Georgian made an indiscreet capture of a pawn, which enabled his adversary to gain an immediate winning advantage in position besides a valu-able pawn. Mr. Orchard, however, after continuing the assault with consummate skill and ingenuity up to the 20th move, made a most unfortunate blunder, losing a rook. This mistake was promptly taken advantage of by Mr. Wurm who forced the game by a few beautiful strokes of play. The game eached 33 moves and lasted about one A number of chess devotees were present and watched the contest with intense interest. Messrs. J. B. Redwine and W. G. Robinson, Messrs. J. B. Wurm had the attack and opened with his favorite "Scotch Gambit." Mr. Orchard adopted Max Judd's defense and soon acquired a perfectly a very registron. For an invalidations fectly even position. Factory, Store and Warehouse Property, Best and Last on the Market! Tuesday, June 19, 5 P. M.

THESE LOTS ARE SITUATED IMMEDIATELY on Marietta street, and the three main lines of roads, the Western and Atlantic, the Georgia Parific and the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia raliroads, with side track already at the property making it the very best property for manufacturing purposes, or for warehouses. Parties who have provision or grain stores in the city could save money by buying one of these lots and erecting a warehouse thereon, where they could load and unload all their supplies in bulk, thereby saving the expensive rents and storage necessary in the center of the city. This property is in the miast of the manufacturing section of the city, and offers superior inducements for investments, as it is admitted by all that it must double in value in a very short time. It is sold for the purpose of investing it cheaper property for a home, as the property has become too valuable to be occupied as a residence by a family of small means. The lots lay just right to be built on easily. Examine the property. Street ear in front and the leading raliroad lines in rear, Jones avenue on the side. Sale positive, Titles perfect. Terms: Half cash, balance in six months, 8 per cent interest. Take the 445 Marietta horse car. Free ride, and good water on the ground.

7 Unimproved Lots and 2 Houses & Lots Foundry and Haynes streets.

A T AUCTION, FRIDAY, JUNE 15th, 1883, at 5:30 p. m. These lots are centrally located, in the midst of the manufacturing district, where renting property pays better than in any other part of the city. Seven of the lots are vacant; two have on them each a two-room plastered house, which have constantly been renting for six dollars each per month. Parties wishing to invest could not do better, as no property so near the factory belt is now offered. This is a good opportunity for mechanics to get a little home and save paying rent. Terms: One-third cash, balance 6 and 12 montos, 8 per cent interest. Take Marietta street car and get off at Foundry street. HENDRIX & McBURNEY. HENDRIX & MCBURNEY....AUCTIONEERS

A Mechanical Marvel. John Keely, determined as usual, to be ahead of he dry goods trade of the city, has in his latest venture, literally eclipsed himself. His "Cash Railroad" is at once the most beautiful and most Raifroad" is at once the most beautiful and most desirable of all improvements. Through its agency business is dispatched rapidly, customers are not called upon to aweit the results of any red tapeism, which is a very annoying thing when one is in a hurry. But Captain Keely claims that it is wrong as a business principle for houses to inflict upon patrons, any usages which delay them whilst it is, done solely in the interest of the concern. His railroad ("Keely's Metropolitan Elevated Road") carries promptly the cash from the salesroom to the cashler, and returns the change, viz: The money given by the customer is, together with the bill, placed in a sphare, which is laid in an elevator. Then, by pulling a string, the elevator throws it on to the upper of two tracks, and away it whirls to the cashler, who, opening the sphere, places it on the lower track and off it speeds, passing over all stations until it comes to the starting point, when it falls unceringly into its own receptacle. The movements of these spheres resemble those of things possessed of life and intelligence, and are most interesting to warch. Scores of them can be seen during a busy moment speeding their ways in all directions, without a sound, without a clash. "Keely's Railroad" is one upon which occur no collisions, no runs off, no mistakes! It is in itself well, very well worth seeing, but when coupled as it is, with the most wonderful bargains in dry goods, it helps to make the store a very attractive place! The contractive place! The contractive place? desirable of all improvements. Through its agency
